Parallel session 3.2
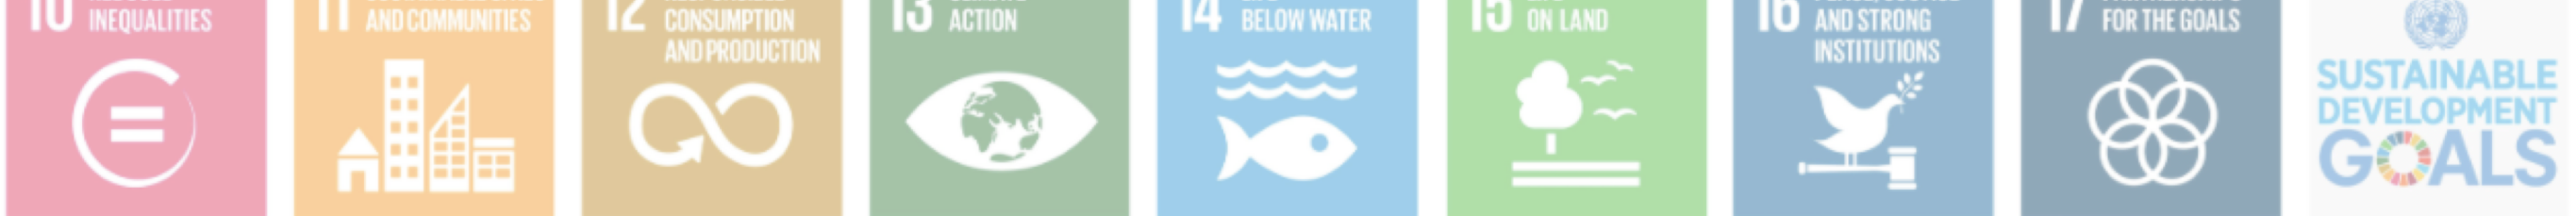

Projects presentation

Bernard Debarbieux, Professor, UNIGE

François Grey, Professor, Tsinghua University

Luping Xu, Professor, Tsinghua University

Nadia Isler, Head, SDG Lab, UNOG

Paul Nieuwenburg, Vice-Dean & Professor of political philosophy, Leiden University

Atish Gonsalves, Global director of learning, HLA

Jan-Anno Schuur, Information Specialist, OECD

Anne Roulin, VP, Nutrition, Health & Wellness & Sustainability, Nestle

Dimitrios Noukakis, Director, MOOCS4Africa, EPFL

David Schweighofer, Conversation strategist, Dell Inc.

John Poté, Professor, UNIGE

MASTER
Governance of SDGs

A common initiative of Tsinghua University and Geneva University

How to reach SDGs through innovative forms of governance?

Key features

1.Implementing the "Geneva Trialogue spirit"

- Academic scholars providing the basis of knowledge on SD, intercultural issues, global challenges, data mining and processing, etc.
- Strong involvement of actors coming from IGOs and global NGOs, regional/national administrations, and the private sector

Key features

2. Combining various forms of teaching

- Academic teaching
- Learning-by-doing : 4 workshops where students deal with practical issues and challenges
- Conference cycles
- Field works in Europe, Middle East, USA and China
- Internships

Key features
3. Curriculum

1 year in Geneva, 1 year in Beijing or Shenzhen

3 specializations:

- Sustainable human development (with UNDP, UNEP, UNESCO, etc.)
- Standards, Governance and Sustainability (mainly with ISO and ILO)
- Sustainable cities and territories (with UNDP, WWF, etc.)

When ?

Applications in Geneva and Beijing by Feb. 2017
Academic start: September 2017

For knowing more about this

Bernard.Debarbieux@unige.ch
Mathieu.Petite@unige.ch